

Rea Summers

Director of Learning and Development
Rea@AccendoInternational.com

Rea Summers converts high-level strategy to customized instructional plans.

Rea injects client engagements with well-planned development and communication strategies to help move the needle on desired outcomes. Whether developing a new curriculum or working on an executive search engagement, her consulting background has provided Rea with broad knowledge and expertise that enables her to seamlessly integrate into client organizations and deliver outstanding results.

Throughout her career, Rea has accelerated organizational change by focusing on client business goals, identifying cultural impacts, troubleshooting and overcoming obstacles, and measuring outcomes. With a keen eye toward process improvement, Rea excels at creating, communicating, and executing strategies and programs that bring value and set teams and organizations up for success.

At Accendo, Rea partners with clients in the following ways:

- Strategic Planning
- Project Management
- Curriculum Development
- Writing and Communications
- Process Improvement
- Recruiting and Executive Search